DAVE WHITE TO EDIT CAMP LOG

The staff of the 1958 Camp Log has been organized as follows:

Editor	- Dave White
Assoc. Editor	- John Toohey
Literary Editor	- Art Sundt
Art Editor	- Dick Styles
Long Island Ed.	- Bob Schenck

There is a great deal more work in preparing the log than can be handled by the above, so let's go Sophs, pitch in! For information see any of the editors.

ENTO CLUB ELECTS

The following officers were elected at a recent meeting of the Entomology Club:

President	- Joe Haug
Vice President	- Don Potter
Sec. Treasurer	- Mel McLaury
Council Rep.	- Charlie Miller

April 24th the club featured Mr. M. H. Sartor, Supervisor Atlantic Coast area, Plant Quarantine Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who presented an illustrated talk on the various activities of the organization.

Notice in Knothole Box - "Shouldn't the motto on our flag in the lounge be, 'Let Each Become All He Is Capable Of Being?'" ED. - Yes, but isn't just seeing our green flag hanging on that blue wall enough for anyone?

OVERHEARD DURING UTE MEN'S VACATION

Carrot Top: Say, Stan, how do you like Tennessee?

Stan Lowland: Hic.

Carrot Top: Say, Stan, did you make any contacts in Zola's Grill?

Stan Lowland: Hic. Yeah, there's more moonshine behind the cash register.

Carrot Top: Harumph! Write your report.

Stan Lowland: zzzzzzzzzzz

CHIPS AN FRASS

Congratulations Bob Schenck, L.A. soph. - a 9 lb. 9 oz. son born April 20th.
Ed Norris, P&P junior - a boy born Easter Day.

For Sale - set of economics notes on 3 x 5 cards, invaluable during tests. Put note in H box.

Wanted - Pair of dark glasses before next plant materials test. Put note in P box or Knothole box.

Personal - Frances Wolfgang wishes the GF juniors good luck at spring camp and a profitable summer.

Winners - P&P juniors over cross-campus students in a rumble on our lawn over an attempted softball game.

CLUB OF THE WEEK

Beginning with this issue the Knothole is going to run a series on some of the Tree School's more important organizations. Each week we will feature a different club; so if you would like to have yours included submit a statement to the Knothole Box.

This week our featured organization is the College Drinking Team. While probably not as well publicized as the Debate Team, this squad spends as much time if not more hard at practice. Hardly an hour of the day or night goes by that one of the members can not be found practicing at the Orange Fieldhouse or Louies' Athletic Club.

Rob Rauer, spirited left rumpot, won All-American honors as he led the squad to an undefeated season. Other stalwarts on the team were Freddy Fuffschlager, souseback; and Bob LaVine, quarterbarf.

The squad suffered the loss of George Kujawski at midseason when he turned professional and another distinguished campaigner developed an ulcer which proved a severe handicap - but his fighting heart wouldn't let him quit the team.

Congratulations squad, we are looking forward to another banner season next year.
Next week - Omega Tau Lambda.
